TO START the new year with cheers, let's applaud the San Bernardino County supervisors for refusing to grant a permit for a subdivision in the heart of Joshua Tree National Monument.

Progressive Southern California needs more restrictions on subdivisions.

None should be permitted where natural water sources have been graded out, with the result that if heavy rains come a lot of homes will be flooded, and when permits are granted there should be adequate protection against grading for streets and driveways which might create a danger of earth slippage. City councils should be sure of their ground before overriding restrictions of planning commissions.

I'VE JUST READ "The Night They Burned the Mountain," by Dr. Tom Dooley, and think it might be good reading for anyone enlisting in the Peace Corps, most graphically revealing the dangers, hardships and sacrifices those trying to rescue ignorant, superstitious, semi-savage and fiendishly misinformed peoples from their miseries, may have to endure—and also what wonderful humanitarian results can be achieved.

Dr. Dooley would have risked his life as readily to save a Communist as to save anyone else, yet nothing else I have read so impressed me with the merciless cruelties of the Chinese Communists. It would be an awful day for humanity if some modern Genghis Khan could lead those numerous millions to conquest.

IT WILL BE interesting to see how a taste of blood affects India's creed of non-violence. After 451 years of submission it disposes of Goa like an auctioneer—Goa, Goa, Gone!

IT SEEMS to me that the more we develop weapons of awesome destructiveness, the more imperative it is not only to support the United Nations, but to use all our power to make it work.

Any the only way to do that is to have a United Nations police force strong enough to move into any area in which war threatens to break out, and say, "Hold it, you guys! If you've got a case, submit it to the World Court. If you haven't, go home and be good."

That, in effect, is what we would do in this city if the residents of two blocks threatened to make war on one another.

Sierra Madre with its "home-made" Tournament of Roses parade float did it again.

The float "Flower Vendors Around the World," designed, constructed and financed by loyal Sierra Madres, took first prize in Class A-13 for cities under 15,000 population.

Second in this class was the City of Commerce.

The girls aboard the float were the Misses Donna Seamon, Margaret Pedigo, Ingrid Gramberg, Christine De Vault and Kathy Schwartz. Garbed accordingly with the float theme they attracted widespread attention along the five and one-half mile parade route.

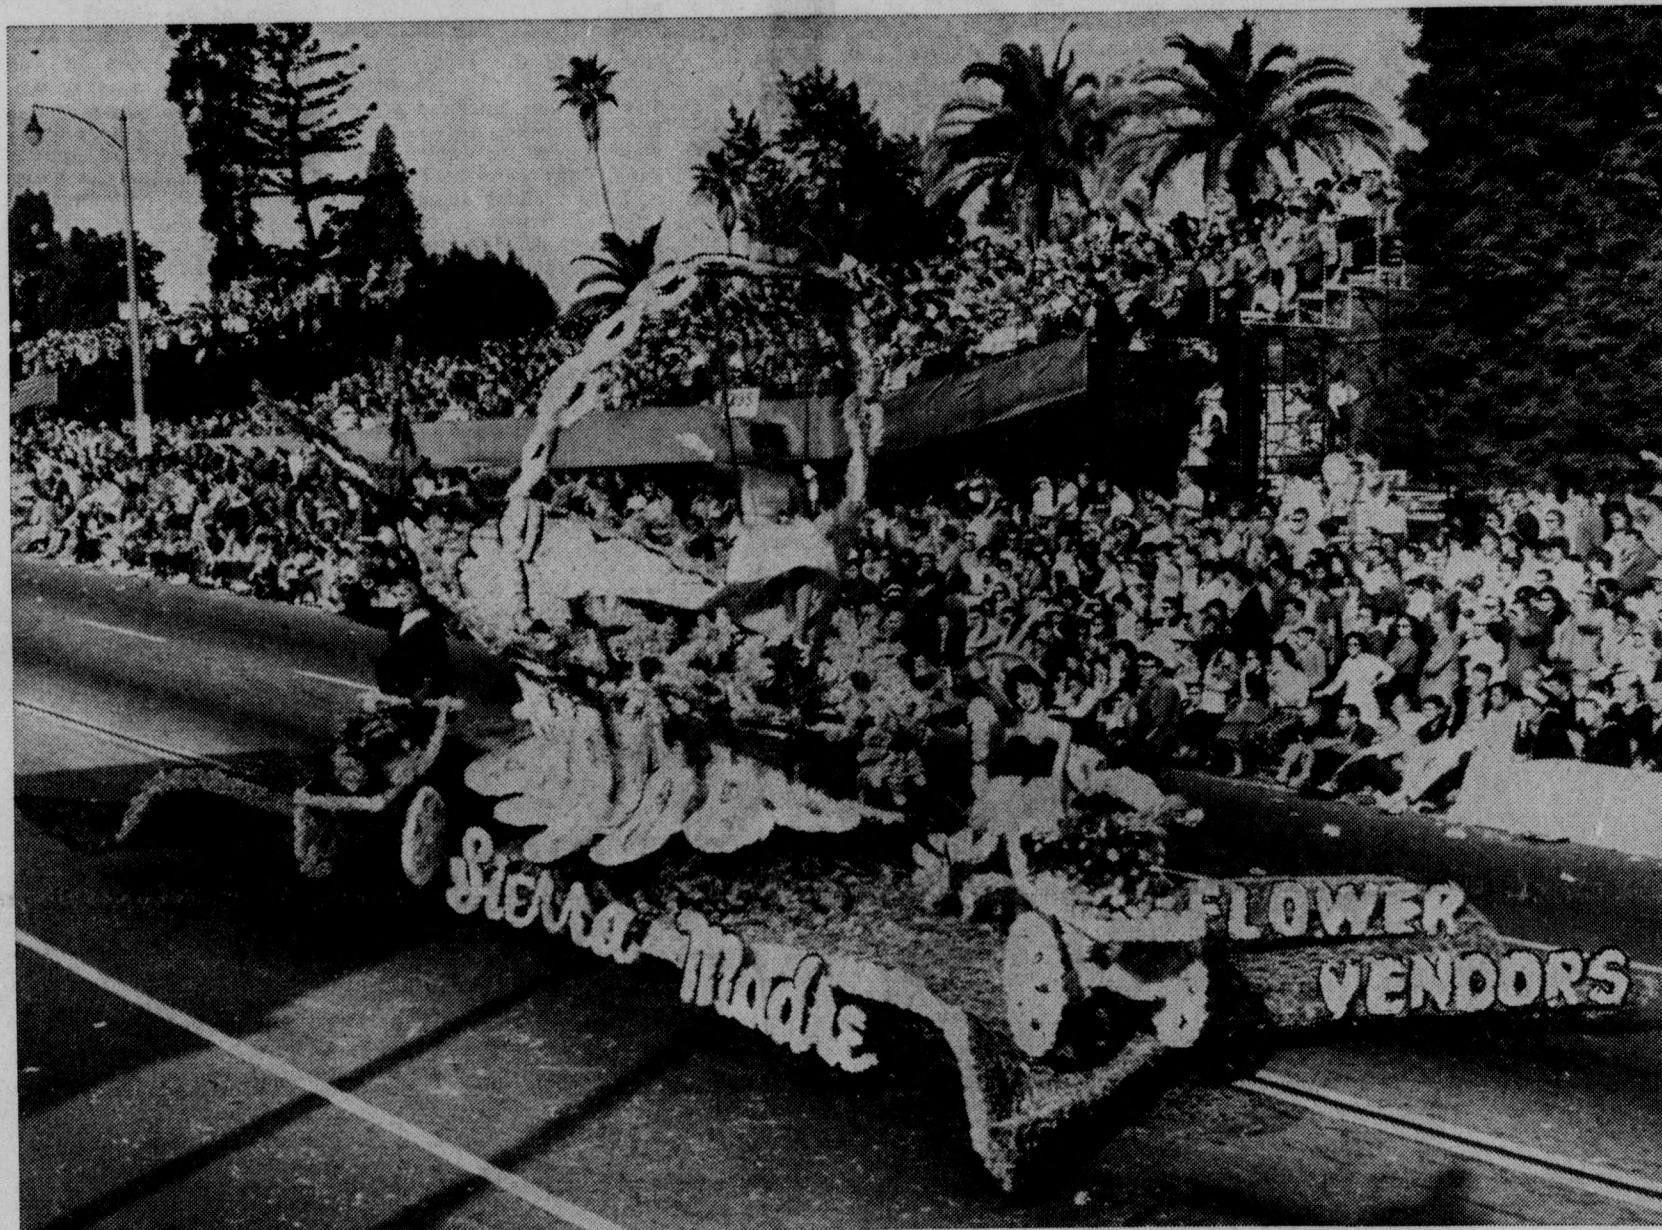

The float itself was brought back to Sierra Madre late Tuesday and placed on exhibit in Kersting Square where crowds view it approvingly.

The Rose Bowl Float Association issued the following statement:

"DURING THE PAST 45 years Sierra Madre has built many lovely Rose Floats, but few, if any have been more beautiful than this year's float 'Flower Vendors Around the World,' and few built exceeding the spirit of concern and pleasure, to so many people who worked untiringly under the outstanding leadership of Manuel de la Torre and Vern Foster, co-chairmen, of Sierra Madre's Rose Float Association.

Association members began this year with such an attitude of interest, enthusiasm, and responsibility, that everyone marveled at the

Ailing Youth Saved From Edge of Ledge

By Bill Wark

A 14-year-old Arcadia boy, ill and shivering with cold, was rescued from the mountains last Thursday night by members of the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team.

Darrow Hassett of 1827 Oak View Lane and his neighbor, John Cale, also 14, had gone for a hike up the Little Santa Anita toward Mt. Wilson.

They were returning at dusk when Darrow who suffers a diabetic condition, became ill and collapsed on the narrow trail two miles above Sierra Madre.

There he lay as his companion ran down the perilous slopes crying for help.

DOROTHY SCHAEFER of 838 Woodland Dr., heard his cries and notified Sierra Madre police who called the Search and Rescue Team.

First to arrive were Capt. Fred La Lone, Donald Colbert, and Miner Harkness. Realizing the gravity of the situation, La Lone and Harkness decided to push on ahead as Colbert set up base camp.

They were equipped with candy bars and a walkie-talkie furnished by the Police Department.

They found the helpless boy shaking so badly that they wrapped him up in their jackets and laid down beside him to keep him warm until the rest of the team arrived with blankets and a wire-basket litter.

It was a wonder that the boy hadn't fallen over the ledge, 200 feet to the rocky canyon floor.

EVACUATION of the boy was hampered by slides and falling rocks. On the great slide the men had to string out several hundred feet of nylon rope to form a net so the litter with the boy could not fall as the litter-carriers crept across it.

The team was delayed as Ranger Ralph Shangraw and Charles Kassler armed with shovels cleared the debris and cut foot paths in the canyon wall.

It was at 8:50 p.m., when the men reached base camp and delivered the boy safely to the waiting ambulance. He was taken to the Sierra Madre Community Hospital for treatment and later released to his parents.

'And the Last Shall Be First'

Miss Valerie June Pittendigh arrived at the Sierra Madre Community Hospital on Dec. 30 at 11:30 p.m., the last baby to be born in the hospital in 1961.

Valerie weighed 7 pounds, 7 ounces, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander (Selma) Pittendigh of 10½ W. Highland Ave., Sierra Madre, and she has two older sisters to welcome her home, Karen, 8, and Sandra, 2. Her maternal grandmother is Mrs. Gladys Long of Tacoma, Washington.

There were no New Year's babies at the hospital.

The team was delayed as Ranger Ralph Shangraw and Charles Kassler armed with shovels cleared the debris and cut foot paths in the canyon wall.

Five Radiant Young Girls Beautified Sierra Madre's Prize Winning Parade Float

By Martha Sharp

Five radiant Sierra Madre girls who rode on the Sierra Madre float representing "Flower Vendors Around the World" in the 73rd Annual Tournament of Roses parade, proudly tendered the home folk first prize in Class 13-A for cities under 15,000 population.

The five lovely young women who sold blossoms from their own "representative countries" certainly sold

Sierra Madre to the world every step of the parade line from Orange Grove Ave., right into Victory Park, were: Donna Seamon, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Seamon of 525 W. Montecito (named after her handsome uncle, Don Jackson) was an elegant lady of highborn caste from India in jeweled headpiece, voluminous blue trousers and swathed shoulder drape that set off her dark beauty.

Beautiful blonde and brown-eyed Kathy Schwartz, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Schwartz of 257 E. Montecito, was a stunning Highland lassie from Scotland in her plaid kilt and velvet cap.

Margaret Pedigo, 16, the daughter of Mrs. Alice J. Pedigo of 196 N. Adams St., was delightful and luscious in black and pink Can-Can costume of France.

Christine De Vault, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Rannell of 272 E. Highland, representing a beautiful and fiery South American from Brazil, wore a form-fitting costume of red brocade with bright-hued puffed sleeves and a headpiece of artificial bananas, grapes, oranges, lemons, mangos and other tropical fruits.

And a beautiful Brunnhilde, Ingrid Gramberg, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morrow of 311 N. Adams, represented the United States in a flower decorated swing attached to a giant flower vendor's basket. She wore a circlet hat of pale blue nylon net and lace, and pale blue gown styled with close fitting bodice and bouffant skirt. Ingrid was born in Varel, Northern Germany, in 1944 and came to the United States in 1955.

MRS. MARY JACOBSON of 312 Foothill Ave., made Donna Seamon's and Chris De Vault's costumes. Mrs. Manuel (Juliette) de la Torre also designed and made Chris' elaborate headpiece.

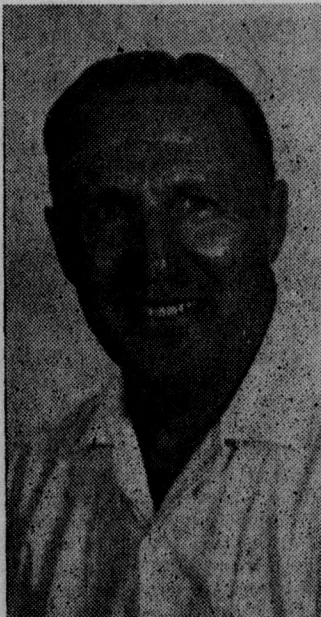

All girls attend Pasadena High School.

George and Joan Yacos, owners of the Pink Cottage, hair stylists, came forward with their staff, including Joseph Gutierrez and offered their skill and talent. Sunday afternoon before New Years Eve the staff individually styled each girl's hair, especially designed for her part in the parade.

Sierra Madre is proud of these fine young women who will all be queens over our town for 1962.

Sierra Madre's postal service has been growing since Sept. 18, 1882, when the only Post Office called Sierra Madre was in the residence of Prof. Edward T. Pierce, the city's first school teacher. His home was located at Michillinda and Central Ave., now W. Sierra Madre Blvd., where the Sierra Madre Methodist Church now stands.

Around the Town With Martha

By Martha Sharp
Elgin 5-0003

MRS. ELLEN EVANS came down from Lancaster to spend the holidays with relatives and friends in the Southland. She enjoyed Christmas with one son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Preston (Lois) Evans and children, Carol, 9, Nancy, 6, and Gary, 1, at Whittier and returned here to visit sister, Mrs. Rudolph (Myrtle) Hartman and brother, Warren Preston, and their families.

Ellen, with her husband, Art, (now deceased) and their two boys, Edwin and Preston, moved to Lancaster 27 years ago this February. Art was the son of Mr. W. A. Evans, Ellen was one of the Preston girls, and both families had lived in our town for many years.

Our family were neighbors of Art and Ellen in the '20s and both Ed and Pres were born when we lived on N. Adams. We've known them from the diaper to the daddy stage for both are now married and have fine families of their own.

Edwin and Lois, that's Ellen's older son and his wife, also live in Lancaster and have a son, Arthur, 5, (who looks exactly like his dad even at that age) and little daughter, Alice, 4.

AND THIS is for our editor — Ellen says, "We've taken the Sierra Madre News during the 27 years we've lived in Lancaster and read it through the front page to the final column on the back page." Ellen is always busy with church and organization activities, but finds time to visit down here, but not nearly often enough for her many friends in town.

MR. AND MRS. LOUIS JAMES SAUTER of 174 N. Sunnyside announce the marriage of their daughter, Kathleen Louise Sauter to William Dean Christensen, Dec. 2 at Elko, Nevada. Bill is the son of Edwin E. Christensen and the late KATHLEEN DAULTON, 17, shown above just before her appearance in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Parade as queen on the Northern Wonderland float sponsored by the Pacific Coast Conference of Bakers and Confectionery Workers Union. Kathleen is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee Daulton of 1410 San Carlos Rd., Arcadia, and is a senior at Westridge School for Girls, Pasadena. Kathleen's father is president of Sierra Engineering Co., Sierra Madre.

Mrs. Elizabeth Christensen of Boise, Idaho.

Kathy attended the Ascension Parish School and Pasadena High School. Both Bill and Kathy have been students at Idaho State College. Bill is now employed by the Mobil Oil Co., Los Angeles.

The young couple, with the Sauter's son, Mike, 17, who lives at home; their other daughter, son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Magne (Susanne) Engen and children, Beth, 2½, and Kathy, who was born Nov. 7, were all at home for the holidays.

Four generations had Christmas dinner for the first time when the great-grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Sauter, 90, (Mr. Sauter's mother) of Los Angeles joined the family circle.

WHEN THE CHIPS are down and you're hanging on life's thin thread, an element sometimes known as Lady Fate enters the scene. Lady Fate also is known as the family who loves you, loyal friends, faithful medical care and final emergence into the almost unbelievable period that you're on the gain.

Well, the Wetherbee family at 215 E. Montecito would just like to express their gratitude for neighborhood generosity, numerous kindnesses, many persons who donated blood and prayers, spoken and unspoken, that Al Wetherbee would be about to say "Howdy" when springtime arrives.

And you know, he's going to do just that. Slim and trim-hipped, Al, with petite and pretty Ethel at his side, would be a handsome couple to be seen at Palm Springs at Eastertide.

MR. AND MRS. ANDREW JACKSON BATES of 410 Pleasant Hill Lane enjoyed Christmas dinner with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David E. (Louise) Alexander and son, Robert, 17, of 221 N. Auburn. Dave and Louise's other son and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Alexander, Jr., with children, Debbie, 5, and Harold, 7, live in Dos Polos, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last October (See Sierra Madre News, Oct., 1961).

Also had a ride and lift last Thursday a.m. on way to the NEWS office when Mr. Bates stopped on Mountain Trail and took me right to door of the office in his "Two Wheeled Cadillac." Electric two-wheeler to you.

BOB SCHEFFEL, who delivers the Sierra Madre News around the Foothill Area, says he doesn't care if he doesn't see an organ for a whole week.

Bob is a humanities major at PCC, but his first love is music. He's organist for the Concordia Lutheran Church in Azusa and assistant organist at First Lutheran Church in Monrovia.

He put in around 18 hours playing the pipe organ at rehearsals and Christmas services nearly all day Dec. 23 and through the Christmas day program Dec. 25. Next year's he's asking Santa for a nice, thick and soft foam rubber cushion—that organ bench became awfully hard after 18 hours.

Bob took off for a much deserved retreat to Palm Springs over the New Year's weekend. Believe there's a certain desert plant known as the Cactus Organ Cactus in that area, but Bob's driving the other way.

Among passengers aboard the SS Mariposa which sails Jan. 7 from San Francisco for the South Sea Islands, New Zealand and Australia, will be Mr. and Mrs. Grant C. Oswalt of 219 Rancho Rd., Sierra Madre. Mr. Oswalt is an insurance company executive.

WE'RE ALL GLAD to know that Roger Miller, pilot and navigator at the Buccaneer, is on the gain and comfortable after a severe inner ear infection resulting from a case of the flu. Roger says, "I have good and loyal help from my staff and my wife is a fine co-manager." The Roger Millers live at 250 N. Mountain Trail.

THANK YOU all for your personal messages, telephone calls, holiday greeting cards and best of all, the news items you send in to me. Each one of you is a Santa Claus. I hope you have 12 months of Christmas in 1962. See you next week around town.

TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL. Taken suddenly ill, Mrs. Theron Schudar of 136 Vista Circle Dr., was hurried to Sierra Madre Community Hospital where she was treated by Dr. Harold Axelrod. Her illness proved not serious.

Sarah Carver, Daughter Of Late Sierra Madran, Weds Lt. Darrell Lee Fort

Lt. Darrell Lee Fort and his bride, the former Miss Sarah Elizabeth Carver, are on a wedding trip to Palm Springs, Oregon and Washington, following their marriage in a double-ring ceremony at El Montecito Presbyterian Church in Santa Barbara.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Marchant Phillips of 847 La Milpita Rd., and the late Everett W. Carver of Sierra Madre. The bridegroom is the son of Arthur Fort of Longview, Wash., and Mrs. Wilbur Hudson of Bend, Ore.

Rev. Donald Ostrander of Trinity Presbyterian Church, Hastings Ranch, and Rev. Paul M. Gannons of El Montecito officiated at the ceremony.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by Mr. Phillips, her stepfather, the bride wore a floor length white taffeta gown styled with a scalloped hemline, chapel train, sabrina neckline and corded waist. The gown was embroidered with sequin and seed pearl flowers.

The bride's fingertip veil was held by a cap of taffeta roses, and she carried white roses with cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. William Empey of Santa Monica was matron of honor in a kelly green street length dress of brocade taffeta styled with a square neckline and a slightly flared skirt. Her headpiece was a matching bow and holly flowers with a veil.

Mrs. John E. Carver of San Gabriel, sister-in-law of the bride, as bridesmaid wore a similar gown in red taffeta. The attendants carried red roses on white fur muffs.

CARRYING ROSE PETALS in a basket was Miss Susan Carver, flower girl for her aunt. Her white taffeta dress was tied with a green satin cash, and she wore a white head-bow.

Thomas Gilkey of Washington was best man. Ushers were Mr. Carver, brother of the bride; Mr. Empey and James Bywater of Arcadia. Mrs. Jephtha F. Randolph of Knoxville, Ill., grandmother of the bride, attended the ceremony, which was on her 58th wedding anniversary.

For her daughter's wedding and as hostess at the reception in her home, Mrs. Phillips wore a navy blue moire sheath dress and white rose corsage. Mrs. Fort, stepmother of the bridegroom, wore a white rose corsage on an aqua crepe dress.

THE BRIDE DRESSED for travel in an emerald green wool suit and brown and beige accessories. She and her husband will live at Kirtland Air Force Base near Albuquerque, N.M., after Jan. 15.

The new Mrs. Fort, a graduate of Pasadena High School, attended Occidental College and was graduated in home economics education from Oregon State University, where she belonged to Chi Omega sorority. Last year she taught in Santa Clara.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Lebanon High School in Oregon, was graduated from OSU, where he majored in mathematics and belonged to Sigma Chi fraternity. He is a navigator in the U.S. Air Force.

It is a dramatic yet scientifically accurate portrayal of the civilization of ancient Egypt.

The film is done in color and will run 66 minutes. It is sent to Sierra Madre by the Los Angeles County Museum film series.

Mrs. John R. Davis

Heather M. MacKenzie Is Bride Of John R. Davis In Altadena Church Wedding

With the church minister, Rev. Robert L. Cornelison, officiating, the wedding of Miss Heather Margaret MacKenzie of 1230 Valley View, Hastings Ranch (Pasadena) to John R. Davis of 320 Sycamore, Sierra Madre, was solemnized Saturday, Dec. 30, at 8 p.m. in St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Altadena.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. MacKenzie of the Valley View address, and the bridegroom the son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Davis of the Sierra Madre address. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

MATRON OF HONOR was Mrs. George (Dolly) Gruber and the bridesmaids were Kathryn Griffith and Janet Dickson. Best man was Walter W. Reed of Sacramento, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, while the ushers were Richard Evans and Bruce Cannady.

The reception was at the home of the bride's parents. The young couple will be at home after Jan. 6 at 493 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre. The honeymoon was spent at Carmel and San Francisco.

The bride's gown was of satin and Alencon lace embroidered with pearls and sequins. The lace formed a portrait neckline; shirred sleeves were elbow-length while the skirt fell into a chapel train. A silk illusion veil was held in place by a pearl crown. Her flowers were Cattleya orchids with sprays of stephanotis and holly, the latter symbolical of the Yuletide season.

The matron of honor was garbed in a red satin sheath with overskirt and three-quarter sleeves and a scoop neckline. Bridesmaids wore Christmas-green satin sheaths, same as the matron of honor. All wore fur crowns embroidered with sequins and pearls, fashioned by the bride's mother. Each carried a carnation muff, adorned with a sprig of holly.

THE BRIDE is a graduate from Pasadena High School and now attends Pasadena City College. Likewise, the bridegroom was graduated from Pasadena High School and now attends Pasadena City College.

Ranch Roundup

Telephone inquiries indicate the death of 18-year-old firefighter Michael Rushworth, so tragically burned in our Sierra Madre fire, is still much in our readers' thoughts. The drive for funds to offset the financial burden his parents incurred during their long vigil at Mike's bedside at Arcadia Methodist Hospital officially closed Dec. 15.

However, there is news today that Joe Kempker of Carriage House Rd. has since collected $177.50 from his neighbors. Also, Mr. and Mrs. Hayward Thomas solicited $200 from their neighbors in the Villa Heights area.

Although this latter contribution was turned into the Forest Service office some weeks ago, I've only just now learned who was responsible for the effort.

When I called to praise Mrs. Thomas she modestly stated that "nothing we could do would be enough to repay the firemen for their valor."

Many readers who echo Mrs. Thomas' sentiments will be happy to hear that Janice and Sam Rushworth have now received a total of $2,269.

Of this amount, $332 was given to the Rushworths before Mike's death. This included $100 from the Upper Hastings Ranch Association and $50 from the Women's Guild of Trinity Presbyterian Church.

AND NOW I'D LIKE to share excerpts from a letter Janice Rushworth wrote from their farm home in Chelsea, Vermont, Dec. 26:

"After we reached home and were talking of our six weeks at the hospital with Michael, we realized there were only about three days in the whole time that someone didn't come to see us. A good share of these visits were due to your news story, Joyce. There was seldom a time that we felt far from home and lonely for lack of love, because we felt so much around us there."

"The Associated Press notified us of the money collected in California. Of course, we knew it was being done, but we were overjoyed by the amount."

"I wish I could express how much the friendliness and help of the people out there means to us."

"We had another snowfall which clung to all the trees and shrubs and bright moonlight added to the beauty and it truly looks like a Christmas card."

"All my folks were here for Christmas and we had a nice time, but Michael was foremost in our thoughts all day. Sam and I kept telling each other that for the children's sake we had to keep going through Christmas, and somehow we did."

WE HAVE HAD many wonderful letters from people Mike was in contact with, telling us of his wonderful leadership qualities, his complete honesty and also the great potential he had. We can only hope and trust that these are put to use in new ways now.

A Vermont newspaper story headed "GRATEFUL CALIFORNIANS GIVE $1,700 TO RUSHWORTH FAMILY" included this information: "Money received will be divided for personal costs, donations toward a memorial chapel being constructed in the Arcadia Methodist Hospital, and a memorial of some kind locally. Members row, Jack Snell, Al Wack, William Butler, Robert Reed, Hal Ehrenfeld, Alice Hinckels and Maurice Labbe, and from Corona del Mar, Mrs. Dorothy Rosenthal and Grant McNiff; the Cecil Hicks from Santa Ana and the John Clarkes from Newport Beach.

IT WAS A GROUP EFFORT and a real blast, I'm told, when Ranch friends celebrated the midnight hour at Ethel and Don Hays' lovely Villa Heights home. Everyone shared the responsibility—and the fun!

Vern Boyer's orchestra made music, the food was catered, Carol Benedict provided the hors d'oeuvres, Phyl Hardison the decorations and Pat Giangregario nobly handled the task of finance chairman!

Sharing the fun were Messrs. and Mmes. Larry Barr, Allan Boal, Bill McClain, Eugene Rode, John Roberts, Matt Slavin, Ed Eley, Bruster Benedict, Jim Fay, Bud Knudson, Al Dunn, Tony Boland, Alan Stearns, Forest Paxson, Charles Hardison, Bill Olson, Bob Farmer, Gordon Wright, Don Giangregario, Ralph Johnston, Malsom Murison, John Redmond, Bud Newton, Jim Wentz, Wendell Booth, Bill Taylor, John Caldecott and Bob Meason.

HOLIDAY SOCIAL WHIRL is over but not forgotten—and here's a report on only a few of recent festive affairs in the Ranch.

Among the many couples holding open house were Phyl and Charles Hardison, Betty and Larry Barr, Jeanne and Donovan Davis.

Also Nancy and George Lenney, formerly of Medford, who invited Ranch friends to their Arcadia home.

BACK TO THE BARRS, they had Betty's family down from Merced for Christmas, followed by a lovely "open house" Dec. 30. Guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Kenneth Barnum, Ralph Judd, Robert McKnight, John Mobus, William Murphy, Warren Newton, Forest Paxson, John Senour, Eldon Stires, Gordon Templar, Brooks Thomas, Roland Zeigler, Ralph Bray, Paul Seichert, George Pastre, Charles Hartmetz, George Lenney, Harris Robinson, Al Tompkins, Harry Masser Jr., Robert Byrne, Harold Barr, Edward Ellison, Dr. and Mrs. R. D. Davis and Dr. and Mrs. Clifford Wilcox.

JANNE AND DONOVAN DAVIS managed a successful "open house" before Christmas but were homebound with the flu during the New Year's Eve party they WERE co-hosting with Craig and Bea Boorey! Several of the guests were on the sick list, too, including Bob and Betty Hankins.

Those who did make it to the Boorey home were Pam and Bill Warden, Peggy and Joe Smyth, Barbara and Lee Campbell, Paul and Sharon Brown, Janet and Hap Lord, Pat and Jack Zemer, Carmen and Bill Vogel, Eleanor and Herb Chambers, Joy and Ernest Wendez, Margie and Bob Bichowsky, Lowen and Bill Meyer, Mary and Ron Kemp, Pat and Hugh Livingston, Dottie and Don Ridenour.

CLEVER CLOCK centerpiece decorated the dining tables at the elaborate and progressive New Year's Eve party co-hosted by Joan and Stephen Stroppe and George and Donna Gilmore. It began with champagne and a catered dinner at the Stropps' and progressed to the Gilmores' for dancing.

Incidentally, Donna covered her door in shiny black and topped it with a fancy cutout bottle and bubbling champagne glass.

Attending this smashing party (many are Shake-speare Jrs.) were Messrs. and Mmes. Gerry Stroner, Robert Paul, Tom Horn, James Link, John Robinson, Bruce McFarland, Lee Dar-

HELEN AND MARTIN SMITH entertained long-time friends and former neighbors, Betty and Dick Beattie, last Saturday night. The Beatties, who once resided on Shadow Grove, now make their home in the Sacramento area. They brought their exchange student from Chile to view Southland festivities too!

MARGO AND DAVE ELMER, moving this month to Orinda, Calif., were guests of honor at the Canfield home of Jane and John Morris. The occasion coincided with the evening the ladies bridge club entertained their husbands. Bidding bridge—and farewell—were Ginny and Norm White, Shirley and Robert Anderson, Edith and Tom McClintock, Betty and Ira Price, Jean and Bill Knight; also Sally and Bill Zogg, who drove over from Anaheim.

WE'RE OFF the party circuit and back to routine—the first Don Benito PTA board meeting of 1962 was held yesterday. Mrs. William Blakley, president, announced the names of the nominating committee for the new year. They are Mmes. Paul Rose, Lawrence G. Smith, Robert Victor, Edward Messinger and J. Harvey Brown Jr.

What a blow it is at this time of year. The bills roll in for the things you forgot you bought.

As you sit there paying them with checks dated 1961, you might glance at the papers and see the same items all half-price from two weeks ago as you fought, scratched, kicked and verily risked life and limb to get these precious items under the tree.

The ones who get money for Christmas and then batle the sales on Dec. 26, really are smart. That is called stretching the dollar, and at this point that seems like the most desirable thing in the world.

Ah well, I say never again, and you well know we'll all be doing it again next year.

MR. AND MRS. J. ARTURO GUTIERREZ of Fairpoint gave a reception last Friday night in order formally to christen their new room. Their friends included Mr.

Noted Artist To Speak At Eugene Field

Chang Reynolds, noted artist, will be first speaker for a series of "Saturday Enrichment Programs" for Eugene Field School, Jan. 6, from 10 to 11:30 a.m. in the school cafeteria.

This series of four Saturday programs is sponsored and arranged by the Field PTA and is assigned as a supplemental enrichment program for the students of Eugene Field.

ALL STUDENTS are invited to hear Reynolds discuss "Animals in Art." He will have a display of his art work and do a demonstration also. In addition to his animal drawings, Reynolds has promised to bring a few of his works on his favorite circus clowns.

Reynolds is audio-visual supervisor for the Pasadena School System and president of the California Print Makers Society.

'Day At The Races' Help To Orphans

Five hundred tickets are to be sold and the group will have entire use of the Terrace Room, and by selecting a Friday many husbands will be able to attend.

This is the second annual benefit to be held at Santa Anita. Last year the event was so successful, netting nearly $1,000, that plans were immediately put underway for another big drive to sell 500 tickets again this year.

THESE FUNDS are given directly to the Children's Home Society of California, 3100 W. Adams, Los Angeles. Financed by voluntary contributions and payments for services, 19 per cent of the society's 1960 program was financed by funds raised by auxiliaries. The society believes it is the right of every child to have a family of his own, and during 1960, 987 children were placed.

Persons interested in tickets may obtain them by calling Chairman Mrs. Desmond B. Strangman, EL 5-8930. The group is planning on another unprecedented success this year.

Trinity Women To Hear Talk On Braille System

How people who have lost their eyesight can receive specialized training that enables them to lead active and often self-supporting lives, will be told the members of the Women's Guild of Trinity Presbyterian Church at their Jan. 16 meeting, by Miss Ann Maguire, representative of the Braille Institute.

S. M. Registrars Are Designated

Delaney, Henry Demmert and finally Fred Madrigal, who is visiting for an indefinite period from Leon, Mexico.

MORE THAN 50 friends gathered at the Fairpoint home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Armstrong last Thursday for what seemed like a regular holiday cocktail party. What the guests didn't know until their arrival, was that it was a celebration of their 20th anniversary. Congratulations, Salie and Al!

NEW YEARS rang out at the Edward Halperin home on Old House Rd. with a bevy of friends enjoying a midnight supper. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Asher, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Burford, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Capanya, Mr. and Mrs. Al Pruitt, Mr. and Mrs. Len Evers, Mrs. Roy Rodolf and Mrs. Ray Turnbull.

ONE OF THE LIVELIEST parties of the season was held at the home of Maj. and Mrs. John Simpson on Sierra Madre Villa. They had a combination housewarming and holiday party for around 50 persons, starting with cocktails and then later a beautiful buffet was served.

It would be impossible to mention all of the guests there but a few I would like to recount are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bishop, who were here all the way from Bronxville, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carlson, from Santa Barbara; their houseguests, Col. and Mrs. Livingston B. Stedman Jr., from San Francisco.

In addition, there were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Previn of Beverly Hills (Andre Previn's parents); Mr. and Mrs. H. Willis Watkins Sr., of Palm Springs; the Simpson daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Lawson, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawson Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawson Jr.; their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Jaffee, from Santa Barbara; their houseguests, Col. and Mrs. Livingston B. Stedman Jr., from San Francisco.

Among the Pasadenaes were Mr. and Mrs. James Ingham, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. George Stansand, Mrs. Kenneth McNeill, Mrs. Theodore Van de Kamp, and their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Becker and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Moore. Many of their friends brought lovely gifts for their new home.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN SAURENMAN of Yonkers shared their hospitality last night with around 30 of their friends and neighbors at an informal gathering in their home.

MR. AND MRS. WALTER OPP of Claremea Lane invited around 50 of Mrs. Opp's sister's California friends in for an eggnog and buffet dinner last weekend. Her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hansen from Chagrin Falls, Ohio, have been visiting with them since Dec. 22. They all are hoping to take a brief trip to Palm Springs before their departure on Jan. 7.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN WILLS of Doyme Rd. also were among the hosts last week. They had a cocktail and buffet party for a group of their neighbors on the Kinneloa Hill.

Their invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Neal Batterson, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Burt, Dr. and Mrs. Karl Deitzel, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Deitzel, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Pink, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Millard Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pulaski.

BEHIND THE COUNTER and also on the "tuther side" at Sierra Madre's new $120,000 Post Office building as a preliminary to Thursday's dedication exercises. On the employees side, from the left, we glimpse Guy Rossi assistant postmaster; May Shearer, Dan Daniels, Joe Vasi and Ruth Rogers.

Mail was delivered to this "office" three times a week from San Gabriel, by horseback or horse and buggy, from this "distant" location.

Sierra Madre's first postmaster served until July 17, 1884, when he resigned to become Pasadena's superintendent of schools.

AFTER PROF. PIERCE there followed 13 postmasters, 11 men and two women, including the present postmaster, Charles E. Louk.

Post Offices rotated from residence to residence until in 1897 it was given space in the old Town Hall at Sierra Madre Blvd. and Baldwin Ave. From that location, it went to Kersting Court, next to S. Baldwin, then west on Sierra Madre Blvd., and now, back to 61 S. Baldwin Ave.

Acknowledgement is given Charles W. Jones, Sierra Madre's first mayor, who held office from 1907 to 1914, for the above information. Former Mayor Jones now resides with his wife at 49 E. Alegria, Sierra Madre.

THE PEOPLE of Sierra Madre salute Postmaster Charles E. Louk; Assistant Postmaster Guy Rossi; Supt. of Mails Bill Evans, and the efficient crew of 15 regular clerks and carriers and eight substitutes who serve a population of more than 10,000 by delivery of mail to more than 3,500 homes and distribution to some 300 Post Office boxes. Postal receipts this year will exceed $220,000. In 1941—20 years ago—they were $21,161.

Postmaster Louk and his crew of efficient helpers deserve the highest possible praise for the planning and the ultimate building of the present ornate structure, modern and beautiful to its last architectural line—efficient to its last delivery of all classes of mail.

Yes, the people of Sierra Madre salute Postmaster Louk for the magnificent role he has played in bringing to this city the delightful new Post Office which people are proud to have bear the name, Sierra Madre.

Post Office dedication stamps, appropriate souvenirs and envelopes will be available for collectors and others who may desire them.

Twelve Month School Year Given Boost

By Henry C. MacArthur

Capital News Service—Special to the Sierra Madre News

SACRAMENTO—When and if the California Legislature gets around to studying a 12-month school year, as has been suggested by State Senator Virgil O'Sullivan, D-Williams, it may take into consideration what teachers do in their vacations.

Senator O'Sullivan says approximately 70 per cent of the state's teachers are engaged in some type of work during the summer, Easter vacations and Christmas vacations that the short school year allows.

And it is a known fact some are engaged in the popular sport of "moonlighting," which is working an extra shift on some unrelated, or related occupation, after school hours and at night.

FROM ALL indications in the CTA Journal, which is a publication distributed by the California Teachers Association, to which most of the teachers in California belong, the teachers do a lot of traveling. This is a broadening activity, so broadening in fact, that many of the advertisements in the magazine emphasize the fact that college credits can be obtained during the traveling period.

In the November, 1961, issue of the magazine, there are 27 advertisements, and ten of these ads, including one by the association itself, which arranges tours, are from travel agencies.

The CTA ad in its own magazine exhorts teachers to "earn credits as you travel in '62." The ad outlines trips to Europe, including 11 countries, and South America, where the teachers can "thrill to the sights of the dream city of Brazil," along with travel in several other Southern Hemisphere countries.

PROBABLY ONE of the best bargains advertised is a 14-day Christmas tour to the Hawaiian Islands, from Dec. 16, the day after school is out for the Christmas vacation, to Dec. 29, just before school takes up again.

The trip will cost those attending the full price, $399, which is just 79 cents more than ordinary people have to pay for a round-trip first-class ticket.

And for this $339, those on the tour get a round-trip Champagne Flight, first-

Bonelli Requests Brown Call Special Session To Remedy 'Vice Loophole'

An urgent request that Governor Edmund G. Brown and the State Legislature consider remedial legislation to strengthen vice laws in the light of the recent Supreme Court decision invalidating many of these laws was made yesterday by the County Board of Supervisors on the motion of Supervisor Frank G. Bonelli.

"The result of the Supreme Court decision apparently invalidating resorting laws if not all of the 14 sections of the Municipal Code designed to combat prostitution and other vice places us in an intolerable position," declared Bonelli.

He pointed out that the court decision creates added financial obligation and responsibility on county government in view of the fact that arrests under state law instead of under city ordinances on resorting and prostitution violations now places the burden and expense of providing jail facilities upon the county with no subventions to the county which would offset the additional cost to the county taxpayer.

"FIRST VAGRANCY drunk arrests and now resorting and prostitution arrests become our responsibility," he commented.

If the Supreme Court decision so affects the law en-

Moses Will Battle With Hiestand

A Burbank public relations consultant, Charles A. Moses, "an avowed enemy of the John Birch Society," announces he will run for Congress in the new 27th District.

A 39-year-old motion picture publicist, he announced at a Biltmore press conference, that he will oppose Rep. Edgar W. Hiestand, candidate for reelection and a member of the John Birch Society. Moses charged that Hiestand has "imported John Birchism into the 27th District."

MOSES ALSO struck out at Project Alert and what he described as "other extremist activities," charging they were "ill-advised on foreign policy and could be more selective in the type of speakers they present."

Moses commented that his "enemies dare not call me soft on Communism because my record in that regard is one of which I am proud."

March of Dimes Teams Public, Science

TWO MEDICAL SCIENTISTS and a layman here symbolize the partnership that led the fight against paralytic polio. Dr. Albert B. Sabin (left) developed live-virus vaccine against the disease. Dr. Joan E. Salk (center) developed the killed-virus vaccine that has reduced the incidence of paralytic polio in the United States by 95 per cent since 1954. Widespread public support for their work was made possible by The National Foundation—March of Dimes under leadership of Basil O'Connor (right), who led the attack for 24 years as volunteer president of the health group. Now the organization has added birth defects and arthritis as major targets for its research, patient aid and professional education programs.

Governor's New Home Starts in '62

By Edwin S. Capps

SACRAMENTO—(CNS)—One of the more pleasant prospects on the Sacramento scene for 1962 will be commencement of construction of a long-needed Governor's mansion.

The person elected Governor in November will be able to move into the new Executive Residence by spring of 1963.

No one is quite sure just what will happen to the antiquated mansion several blocks north of the Capitol which will be vacated. It has been termed a fire trap and there were reports the Governor was required to keep a rope ladder in his room, to be used for escape in case of a fire.

THE OLD Executive Mansion also was situated on an interstate highway and such distinguished visitors as Adlai Stevenson and Harry Truman have been kept awake at night by the big diesels roaring along.

Unfortunately, the site of the new mansion, just south of Capitol Park, also is bordered by U.S. highways on two sides. However, there are hopes that eventually the blind opposition to all freeways in Downtown Sacramento area will be overcome and the main highways will be routed through town on freeways. There is a point, however, that it likely will be some years before such opposition is overcome.

The Legislature, Department of Finance, and those in authority have felt, quite properly, that the new Executive Mansion should be one to reflect the way of living for which California is famous. Instructions to architects competing for the contract to design the new mansion have included this.

COMPETITION itself is being conducted in the highest fashion. Evidence of this came when nearly 200 separate designs were submitted. This field was narrowed to ten in recent judging. They will submit more detailed designs and final winner will be selected in February.

Winning architect will receive a $32,000 fee for his efforts and for preparation of the working plans. This is estimated to be about what an architect's fee would be and, according to other architects, is a modest fee at that. One prominent architect of this writer's acquaintance said it's expected the firm or individual winning the competition, actually will lose money, although there is considerable honor attached.

The new and modern mansion is expected to correct a number of deficiencies which made living somewhat difficult in the old mansion, never designed as a Governor's mansion in the first place. It was suggested that architects design a two-story building, due to lack of site space, with some 12,500 square feet of floor space.

Specifications required an elevator which should be an improvement over the impressive, but tiresome, staircases in the present mansion.

$57,695 For Young Prey Of Arthritis

A grant of $57,695 was made today jointly to Rancho Los Amigos and Loma Linda University for the establishment of a new medical project to fight one of childhood's most disabling diseases, juvenile rheumatoid arthritis.

A check for the amount from the Los Angeles Chapter of the National Foundation was presented to the institutions by Supervisor Frank G. Bonelli, chairman of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles.

Representing the two institutions were Dr. Joseph E. Maschmeyer of Loma Linda University, and little Rancho Los Amigos arthritis patient Linda Bodiman, 4. Representing the Los Angeles Chapter was its chairman, Robert A. Wilkinson, Prudential Insurance Co. executive.

THE MONEY is raised by the annual March of Dimes. The 1962 campaign will be in progress throughout January with a goal of $1,000,000 for Los Angeles County.

Youngsters through the age of 19 from this area who are afflicted with arthritis will be offered specialized medical service at the new treatment and evaluation center, Bonelli said.

According to Bonelli the hospitals will make available the services of doctors, nurses, physical therapists, medical social workers and others in a team approach to the arthritis problem, much like that pioneered by the National Foundation for its polio centers.

BONELLI urged county citizens to support the current mercy fund appeal by mailing contributions to March of Dimes, Los Angeles 39.

Parents with children suffering from juvenile arthritis who are interested in the clinic may write to March of Dimes Arthritis Clinic, Loma Linda University, 1720 Brooklyn Ave., Los Angeles 33. The clinic will be activated this month.

Van Reed, Bill Bennet, Ralph Rule, Vern Foster, Manuel de la Torre, Larry Bevington, Carl Brand, Les Barkley, Bryce Tyler, Joe Barbosa, Horst Lechter, Werner Langenbach, and J. Rhodes.

Also Manuel de la Torre, for the design; Miss Susan Maloney and Bob Mathes, artists; Dr. Paul Narowich, flower procurement chairman; Betty Birch, and the Sierra Madreans who gave flowers; Mr. and Mrs. William Bennet, flower workers committee, and the hundreds of children and adults who helped.

Also Mrs. Grace Van Reed, Myrt Waite, Eleanor Barkley, Ann Tyler, Virginia Lighthizer, Florence Fisher, June Fleming, Jane Bevington, and Phyllis Foster, who served on the committee; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Lighthizer, publicity.

Also, a word of thanks goes to the Pink Cottage Salon, who did the hair styling for the five beautiful girls who rode our float; Boy Scout Troop 372, Scout Master J. Newberry, Mike, Tim and Dan Tyler, Mark Sullivan, Richard and Steven Mays, John Gender, Bob Carrier, Jack Duffey, Don Pluma, Randy Dreen, Paul Collins, George Hillman, John Gendron, and Tom Hazelhurst. Scouts who stood guard on the float Saturday night; Sierra Madre Nursery School, Eastern Star, Woman's Club, American Legion, VFW Auxiliary, Sierra Madre PTA, and Sierra Madre Women's Baseball Auxiliary for the donuts and coffee.

ALSO to last weeks financial contributors: Barretts Home Gardens, John H. Curtis, Central Garage, Happy's Liquor, The Keepsake, La Lona Cleaners, Pantorium Cleaners, Shell Service Station, Lions Club, Toy and Patio Village, Richfield Service Station, Osti's Nursery, and Wistaria Bake Shop—and lastly but not least the SIERRA MADRE NEWS that kept everyone well informed, and helped raise the funds necessary to build our wonderful float.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester F. Lighthizer of 100 Colony Dr., who accomplished an excellent job of publicity for the float enterprise, have issued the following guidance sheet which is worthy of perusal for those interested in the success of the venture:

SIERRA MADRE—Population 10,129. Located east boundary of Pasadena, north of Arcadia, and nestled in the foothills below Mt. Wilson. W. Webster Vannier, mayor, Lawrence C. Bevington, city administrator. Widely known for its largest wistaria vine in the world, and its Search and Rescue Squad.

HISTORY AND ORGANIZATION—Each year since 1917 Sierra Madreans meet in the fall to organize the Sierra Madre Rose Float Association. Committee chairmen are appointed, and plans immediately made to determine their Rose Float theme, derived from the overall Pasadena Rose Parade theme. Sierra Madreans are invited to all meetings and encouraged to make suggestions regarding the theme.

After the theme is approved, the artists go to work on a sketch, a budget is set, and the finance committee raises the necessary funds, while the publicity committee keeps Sierra Madre informed of the progress being made, and volunteers are invited to donate their time and talents in the construction of the float.

PAST AWARDS—In the past Sierra Madre has received many awards in the first, second and third class, and received the Theme Trophy in 1958 for "Young America Dreams."

BUILDING, FINANCIAL SUPPORT—The Sierra Madre float is built by the families and residents of Sierra Madre, who unite in this annual community project that brings them closer to one another in community spirit and fellowship.

The boys help by standing guard on the float during the last week of construction, and help with the firing of the frame; the girls sell roses to raise money; decorate and ride the float; while the mothers supervise the Rose Sale and Contest, prepare the food for the volunteer workers, buy the flowers and decorate the float; and the dads take care of the finance, construction and design.

Sierra Madreans respond from many professions—engineers, doctors, entrepreneurs, tradesmen, salesmen and civic and government leaders contribute their time and services. In addition to the hundreds of persons who donate their time, the local merchants and businessmen give financial support.

Result: Mrs. Dubeke who resides alone at 5730 Willard St., Temple City, was "Queen for a Day" in one of the parade zone stands.

FBI Agent Will Speak To Members of St. Rita's Guild at Tuesday Meeting

The January luncheon meeting of St. Rita's Guild will be held Tuesday, Jan. 9, at 11:45 a.m. in St. Rita's School Parish Hall.

All members and their friends are cordially invited to attend this first luncheon meeting for 1962 which promises to be most interesting.

Mrs. Ross W. Cortese, program chairman, has invited William G. Simon, special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, in charge of the Los Angeles office, to be guest speaker.

Mr. Simon was graduated from St. Mary's College in Moraga, and then went on to the University of California Law School. After passing the bar, he went into the bureau. The subject of

Mr. Simon's talk will be "The FBI Story."

LUNCHEON WILL BE served under direction of Mrs. John Nuccio, Mrs. William Steele and Mrs. William Simons.

A short business meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Edmond D. Pulone, St. Rita's Guild president, at which time final plans for the February Fashion Show will be discussed.

Gabriel Valley Hadassah Plans Annual Youth Aliyah Lunch On Monday, Jan. 15

Women of the San Gabriel Valley Hadassah will hold their Annual Youth Aliyah Luncheon, Monday, Jan. 15, at 11:30 a.m., at the Masonic Temple, 3130 Huntington Dr., San Marino.

Providing medical supplies, care, and rehabilitation for the sick child is the goal of the Youth Aliyah luncheon this year.

Through the years, the Youth Aliyah program of Hadassah has brought and absorbed into Israel more than 90,000 children from 72 different countries. It provides training and medical centers in Israel for these children, and has built countless havens where children with different customs, languages, and training can be cared for, and helped physically, mentally, and spiritually.

HADASSAH, recognizing the need for help at home as well as abroad, takes particular pleasure this year in announcing a two-fold theme for the scheduled event.

For their outstanding generosity, dedicated work and philanthropy in behalf of the youth of the area, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Joseloff, of Pasadena, will receive Hadassah's outstanding Award of Recognition. In their honor, men have been invited to accompany their wives to the hitherto all feminine affair.

Mrs. Max (Faye) Schenk, of Brooklyn, N.Y., newly-appointed chairman of education and former national H.M.O. fund-raising chairman of Hadassah, will be the featured speaker. She has literally spanned half the world serving in the Zionist movement, having held position of eminence in this movement while a resident of Sydney, Australia, to being the founder and first president of the Washington Heights Group of the New York Chapter.

IN ADDITION, she was editor of the Brooklyn Parkway Chapter's "Hadassah Reporter," and Brooklyn Regional education chairman before assuming her present post. As H.M.O. fund raising chairman, Mrs. Schenk directed the activities of 1,200 chapters and group chairmen throughout the country.

On the lighter side, Miss Eva Lorraine, director of the First California Ballet, will present two of the most outstanding children chosen from the Pasadena area to work in the Ballet Workshop for Talented Children.

Nancy Miller, 11, and Lorraine Lawrence, 10, under the able tutelage of this nationally known director, will present their brilliant choreography to help children less fortunate than themselves.

MRS. ELMER ZELLMAN, chairman for this event, announces that the exquisitely catered luncheon, and the wonderful program has created quite a demand, and will bring an overflow guest list. Reservations will be required, and may be made by calling:

Mrs. Robert King, SY. 3-3961.

Mrs. R. Darlington, HL 7-1393.

Mrs. Sol Prince, AT 9-3490.

All interested adults of the San Gabriel Valley are invited to attend.

DAMAGE NOT SERIOUS

The car of Dolores Thill, city employee, parked on the City Parking lot back of City Hall was damaged when another auto owned by C. D. Shank of 2519 N. Lake, Altadena, backed into it Tuesday. The damage was minor.

Youths Using Library Are Sober Type

Results of a Student Questionnaire conducted by the Sierra Madre Public Library indicate that students using the library these days are serious-minded.

The same questionnaire was conducted in several San Gabriel Valley libraries, with the result generally the same. In the Public Library here the Senior Mariner Scouts handed out the questions to students during the first week of December. Here are the results:

NINETY PER CENT used the library to obtain information or books for school assignments.

Twenty-four per cent used the library to borrow books for other than school assignments.

Fifty-four per cent used the library as a study hall.

Forty-four per cent used the school library first.

Six per cent used the library to meet friends.

IT WOULD SEEM that the majority of students use the library for serious purposes. Mrs. Josephine Terry, city librarian, reports that the students have been courteous to other library users.

And, since all students cannot be accommodated in the library for "study hall" purposes, students are urged to borrow the books they need from the library on their way home from school.

Shakespeares To Fete Rose Queen, Aides

A highlight of the Shakespeare Club year is the traditional Post Holiday luncheon, when the Rose Queen and her court, accompanied by officials of the Tournament of Roses Association and their wives are entertained. This will be held Tuesday, Jan. 9, at Stratford House, with the president, Mrs. Kenneth H. Scott, presiding. Invocation by Mrs. James H. Cherry, junior past president.

Mrs. J. Robert Paine, civic interest chairman, will present the 1962 Tournament of Roses president, H. Burton Noble, judge of Pasadena Superior Court; Mr. Stanley L. Hahn, vice president, and Max Colwell, executive secretary and manager.

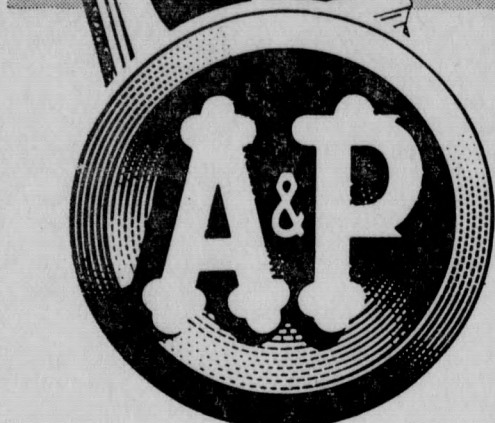

John J. Cabot, chairman of queen and court committee will interview Queen Martha Sissell and princesses. They will tell of the excitement, of anticipation, thrills when selected and pleasures which followed.

A GAY, FESTIVAL air will prevail and a capacity crowd is expected. Decorations by Mrs. Frederick M. Dickey and her committee carry out the theme "Around the World with Roses."

Preceding the luncheon Orrin W. Fox, chairman of the photographic committee of the association, will show a film of the 1961 Tournament of Roses parade. Mrs. Don McMillan, chairman of public affairs, is in charge.

Our Christmas Decor

We'd like to make this a kindly editorial, inasmuch as it deals with the Christmas decorations that adorned our downtown streets in Sierra Madre.

How to go about this without stepping too forcibly on some one's toes is indeed a problem. Mrs. Leila M. Roberts, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Christmas decorations committee, did an excellent job of organizing and Ralph G. Hurwit saw to it ably that the necessary funds were raised.

Somehow or other, however, we feel that our decorations were "just inadequate," that they lacked something and we wonder if, come next Yuletide, definite steps may be taken to better the decorations. A city is known by its progress, the degree of its culture — and, the excellence of its Christmastime decorations.

Christmas business among our merchants was good — we wonder if next year's decorations might be "gooder." This newspaper prepared to defray its share of the necessary expense.

As we said at the outset of this editorial, we hope we have not hurt anyone's feelings — it's a delicate subject. But, we do believe, something should be said about it.

No Time For Flippancy

"Smart writing" does not necessarily mean "sober thinking."

And these are times when sober thinking, not flippancy or "smokescreening" is essential for America.

Dr. Peter Fay who lives in our midst, who teaches history to young American students at Caltech, and who is known for his liberal viewpoints, purposely attended one of the recent Project Alert meetings held at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles.

In a letter to the Editor appearing in the Los Angeles Times, Professor Fay writes — well, we believe somewhat flippantly, and without plausible purpose.

After stating that he was "alarmed," though we see no good reason why an all-American seminar like Project Alert should prove alarming to the professor, he adds that "I went there myself to see what it is all about."

Apparently, Professor Fay could not understand that it was a meeting calculated to educate people about Communist methods and to inculcate loyalty for America, not Soviet Russia. He writes further:

"I EXPECTED an exciting, savage, shrewdly produced super-patriotic show. What I got was a funeral. Even Mr. Skousen, putting amiably back and forth across that huge stage before those half-empty seats, looked a little depressed. Perhaps his book and the other books being sold in the lobby (no Whitaker Chambers, I noticed; no George Orwell or Arthur Koestler or 'The God That Failed,' but only the kind of things that have to be pushed) were not moving.

"I do not think I have ever sat through anything so dreary. I guess if this is the best the right extremists can do, we've got nothing to be afraid of — except, perhaps, being bored to death."

Does Professor Fay identify himself as a left extremist, and who is he speaking of when he writes "we've got nothing to be afraid of"? Is it the Communists boring from within in this country, is it the extreme leftists or just the intelligentsia Pinkos who would bore anyone to death with their fallacious arguments?

PROFESSOR FAY's diatribe is a typical example of today's "smokescreening" that has crept into some American minds, dazzled by the Communist experiment emanating from Red Moscow.

We do not accuse Dr. Fay with being a Communist or even an ultra-liberal, but letters such as his do, we believe, give aid and comfort to the agents of Moscow seeking to destroy our American form of government and to seize and rule this country. For Dr. Fay's benefit we'd like to again say that he, as one of the so-called intelligentsia, would be among the first the Communists would back up against a wall and liquidate.

PROFESSOR FAY will say that he only espouses freedom of speech and that such is in the American tradition. There he is, in a measure, right. But freedom of speech carries responsibilities of loyalty to this country and that in these days it has reached horizons of danger. When it reaches this danger zone it is time that it be held within bounds. For if it goes beyond those boundaries it can affect our national safety and borders on disloyalty, even treason.

Justice Learned Hand who until his death a few months ago, was perhaps the greatest legal mind in our country, outlined this clearly when he defined this danger zone upon which freedom of speech can impose.

We do not believe that Professor Fay is disloyal to our country, but we do believe wholeheartedly that he and men and women like him whose words, unintentionally but perhaps flippantly, help to bore from within at the vitals of our form of government, should not deal flippantly, with such a serious situation. We believe they should consider this seriously and the effect of their words on the safety of their native land.

THIS EDITOR does not belong to the Birch Society or any organization of the sort; he espouses the parliamentary form of government such as exists today in America.

But he most earnestly believes that the time has come when Americans must stand up and be counted, to openly declare they are against or for Communism, and if they oppose the atheistic philosophy fathered in Soviet Russia, to fight all-out against it; to realize, as Professor Fay

Bigger And 'Better' Politics In 1962

By Henry C. MacArthur
Special to the Sierra Madre News
(Capitol News Service)

SACRAMENTO — This political year, like all circuses and each year's California State Fairs, promises to be "bigger and better than ever."

One reminder that this is an election year came indirectly on New Year's day when a program of liberalizing the state's social welfare program to the tune of $123.8 million a year took effect. This serves as a reminder to all those in need who receive aid under one or the other of the programs that it was brought to them by an Administration and Legislature clearly dominated by the Democratic Party.

It perhaps also is a reminder to those who will have to bear the costs of the programs through the ever-increasing tax burden.

THE FIRST real "event" of the political year will take place Jan. 24. At that time, at a San Francisco dinner, Governor Edmund G. Brown will surprise no one by announcing he intends to seek election to another four-year term, to be served in the brand new Executive Mansion expected to be completed in Sacramento in early 1963.

Following Brown's "bombshell," the California Democratic Council will hold its endorsing session in Fresno. If there are any questions about who will be on the single-candidate slate of nominees for the constitutional offices, they should be ironed out in the Fresno meeting.

Brown, while not a declared candidate as yet, has said a number of times he hopes all incumbent officials will run for reelection to present a united front to the Democratic voters. There's not much question about the reelection intentions of Lieutenant Governor Glenn Anderson, State Controller Alan Cranston, or State Treasurer Bert A. Betts.

THE BIGGEST question to date is Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk, and whether he will seek a virtual "sure thing" reelection, run for some other office, such as the U.S. Senate, or look for a judicial appointment.

Another question mark is Robert McCarthy, youthful former director of motor vehicles, who split with the Brown Administration. McCarthy has indicated at times he might have a try for the gubernatorial nomination and also has been considered a likely for the U.S. Senate. The only certain thing about McCarthy's future is that, whatever office, if any, he seeks, he will find little sympathy for his efforts with the organized Democrats.

Conservatism's Rise Troubles Kennedy

By Robert G. Spivack
WASHINGTON

THUNDER ON THE RIGHT — Rep. Charles Halleck, hard-boiled leader of the House Republicans and a self-described "gut fighter," has returned to the Capitol after visiting his constituents.

He has now solemnly announced that there is a rising tide of Conservatism throughout the country.

Mr. Halleck's report is not exactly a big surprise.

What is surprising is that so many of President Kennedy's political associates appear to share Halleck's assessment of the nation's political mood. I am not speaking of reports that Lawrence O'Brien, the President's political chief-of-staff, also sees a strong conservative trend. This thinking permeates the Democratic National Committee and even among those working on the new budget.

The result is that among high level Administration personnel there is little these days that is bold or imaginative or that approaches the spirit of the 1960 campaign. Instead there seems to be an obsession with what is known as "political realism." This is a disease that affects many politicians and often results in political paralysis.

EVERY CURSORY examination of the Kennedy Administration's first year shows that not only is the Administration standing still but that there are significant areas of retreat on the home front.

Aside from the Peace Corps there was not much in the way of positive achievement to which the Administration could point during 1961, omitting mixed results in the conduct of foreign affairs. Moreover the spirit — or lack of it — with which the White House approaches the forthcoming session does not give hope for anything significant to be accomplished in the coming year.

The reason for this could be that the President's political staff — and possibly the President himself — are overly impressed with the clamor of the rightists. While the White House publicists wish to picture the Administration as "moderate," there is a danger they will instead leave an impression of emptiness.

should, that if the Communists seize control of this nation there will be no freedom of the speech and only one party — the Communist Party. Let him ask Mary Healey and her husband, the Red sidekick, Phil Connolly, in nearby Los Angeles, about that.

Once again we say that "you don't pick up a rattlesnake and fondle it — you stomp on it and kill it before it kills you."

Communism is "The Red Snake of Moscow," eating at the vitals of America.

THE AMERICAN NATION was not built on flippancy nor "smokescreening." The men who founded it, who fought for it constructed it through serious sober thought and actions, and we who love it have continued it through "blood and sweat and tears."

Professor Fay could — and should — realize all this.

When The Dust Settles

It is to be hoped that former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, former Governor Goodwin J. Knight, Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell and former Lt. Governor Harold J. Powers will not withdraw as contenders for the Republican nomination for Governor at the June primary election.

For politically speaking, a hotly-contested gubernatorial campaign could clear the cobwebs in the Republican closet and get the party's house in order for an all-out assault on Democratic Governor Edmund G. Brown in the general elections in November.

There are politicians who theorize that party washing should be done in the service porch and not before the public. That theory obviously is fallacious. A good, hard, open primary election contest among Republican hopefuls, in the final analysis, should put the party in better fighting trim than it has been at any time since last fall when all elements of the party aligned themselves behind Nixon's Presidential efforts and did so enthusiastically.

CERTAINLY, there is not going to be any such closing of ranks in the upcoming primary election, but the party will be stronger if all candidates take their case to the Republican rank-and-file on next June 5.

The bulk of the Republican Party leadership will move directly behind the Nixon candidacy, thought it is this newspaper's opinion that it should remain absolutely neutral in this respect. Knight, Shell and Powers will seek to convince Republican voters that they are better qualified gubernatorial prospects. Without hesitation the SIERRA MADRE NEWS believes Knight is the best qualified of the four and unless he withdraws will support him.

When the dust settles, the Republicans should have a candidate and a party with its house in order for the November election sufficiently strong enough to warrant its resumption of power at Sacramento.

Other than the threat of a McCarthy campaign, the Democratic questions are expected to be settled with amiable skirmishes, with a serene picture ready for the voters at the June primary.

NOTHING COULD be less true for the Republicans, on the basis of the present situation. Richard M. Nixon, former vice president; Goodwin J. Knight, former Governor; Harold J. Powers, former lieutenant governor, and Joseph Shell, state assemblyman, all have announced their candidacy for the Governorship. All have reiterated again and again that they are in the race to stay.

While it appeared at the outset the real battle would be between Knight and Nixon, the other candidates — Shell and Powers — have been working hard. Shell has made more than 300 speeches in the past couple of months and is said to be well financed.

The surest thing the Republicans have, Senator Kuchel, probably will be running much as a lone wolf, avoiding the intra-party battles which are sure to break out if all the candidates stay in the race.

If there seems to be little activity concerning some of the lesser statewide offices, it's because they're overshadowed by the big Governorship race.

What they seem to have forgotten is that they won the close 1960 election by talking and acting like Liberal Democrats, not like Conservative Republicans.

WHAT ARE the areas of retreat?

Federal aid to public schools — The Administration, under inept generalship of HEW Secretary Ribicoff, flunked the school test at the last session. There has been fingerpointing by Mr. Ribicoff at the school teachers. There has also been private criticism, from some quarters, of Cardinal Spellman.

Yet the fact is that the President has not taken the school fight to the people even though the needs he described in the 1960 campaign remain unfulfilled. There have also been suggestions that the "religious" issue should be met by a constitutional amendment, rather than deferring action now for the public schools. The Administration did not act on the suggestion. Instead it seems to have run for cover in hopes that the school storm will pass.

Discrimination in housing — The big argument for postponing congressional moves for stronger Federal civil rights legislation has been that the President would handle this problem by executive action. But on the first big test, ending racial restrictions in Federal housing, the Administration apparently has decided to put off executive action indefinitely, lest some Dixie delegates are offended. The new argument: "Their votes are needed for more important things."

Not surprisingly this has brought taunts of "expediency" from those Right-of-Center and has caused moaning among those Left-of-Center.

Medical Aid for the Aged — The "word" is that the Administration really will fight for a medical care program. But there has been little public preparation, such as lining up the Liberal and labor support that will be needed to offset the onslaughts of the American Medical Association. This has given rise to reports that a "compromise" — possibly on the Social Security provisions of the proposed legislation — is already in the works.

Can the AMA, the Dixiecrats, or the opponents of Federal aid to public schools be appeased? I wonder.

WHERE PERSONALITIES are concerned there has also been over-concern with the agitation from the Right. When all is said and done that is why Chester Bowles was shifted from the State Department; it was an attempt to silence Right-Wing criticism.

The decision to "go along" with Rep. John McCormack of Boston as new Speaker is further evidence of trying to please the Right. McCormack is the choice of a strange combination of Southern Bourbons and Big City Bosses. This combina-

37 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK, Jan. 2, 1925 — The Wistaria Theater was purchased this week by the firm of Bennett and Waugh of Los Angeles from Mr. and Mrs. Mason Brown who started the theater about a year ago. They expect to return to Alhambra, their former home. Messrs. Bennett and Waugh are experienced theater men and will furnish high class programs for Wistaria patrons.

New officers for Sierra Madre Post, No. 297, American Legion, were chosen at the annual election Tuesday night. They are Arthur T. Evans, commander; R. W. Stewart, first vice commander; Peter Becronis, second vice commander; J. T. Railsback, adjutant; Lester K. Layton, treasurer; Dr. G. S. Bovard, chaplain; Harold F. Roberts, historian; Henry M. His committeemen include Howard Brod, Charles Klunk, Al Foxton, Tony Loomis, Knox Hagar, Anthony Morse, Emile Smith, Dr. Wynne, Robert Green, Donald Jackson, Gustave Richer, Dr. Valois, Roy Pickett, Milton Steinberger, Rollin Lewis, Lloyd Howard, Jim Spencer and John Rasmussen.

Hungry burglars on New Year's Eve struck the home of William A. Gildersleeve at 475 Manzanita Ave. After cutting a hole in the screen and opening a window, they unlatched a door. Entering the kitchen, they took a radio, toaster, electric juicer, cigars — and two-rib beef roast, plus six lamb chops.

6 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK, Jan. 6, 1955 — Mayor Charles E. Louk became the new postmaster for Sierra Madre Friday afternoon following a brief installation ceremony at 2 o'clock conducted by Post Inspector Fred W. Leben from the Pasadena postal territory. He fills the vacancy left by former Postmaster Eddie Robinson whose illness of almost a year forced him to retire. Meanwhile, Robinson's work has been performed by Assistant Postmaster Arthur H. Embree.

Mrs. Bessie Nieman of 327 Montecito, recently returned home after a two-week stay in Sierra Madre Hospital where she was recuperating from a broken leg.

Letter to The Editor

Dear Editor:

May I express my appreciation to you for your active support of the collection for the Rushworth family. The SIERRA MADRE NEWS stories were a major contributing factor to the success of the drive which has already netted almost $600 in the Sierra Madre area. Not only did the NEWS articles spark the collection — the use of the NEWS office as a collecting point provided its share of the funds.

Again, thank you and everyone who contributed.

LAWRENCE C. BEVINGTON
City Administrator.

Dear Editor:

Space, according to Mr. Webster, is the region beyond the earth's atmosphere.

It is inhabited only by canned men, monkeys and dogs in an awful hurry to go nowhere in particular.

Space is far superior to a freeway for this purpose.

Space also may be defined as that of which there is never enough between grotesque klunks and monstrous trucks on a so-called freeway. It also is that of which there is far too much between trains on the reluctant, overtaxed and abused railways. We are creating wastefully inefficient traffic while transportation goes down the drain!

Boys Jump Wall At Colvin Home

Mrs. Hugh F. (Audrey Low) Colvin notified police Thursday night that some one had jumped over the rock wall fence at her home, 336 Sturdevant. Police discovered it was two boys. The Colvin home is in a poorly-lighted section.

tion of Democrats is not usually to be found in the forefront of the fight for Liberal social legislation.

IT IS POSSIBLE, of course, for the President to reassess the situation before his State of the Union message and other messages go to Congress. But there is an increasing tendency in Washington to refer to this as "the third Eisenhower Administration." A little less time spent listening to the thrum of the Right and a little more time providing legislative leadership could alter the situation on The New Frontier.

Girl Injured In Chin Bar Fall At Mesa Playground

A four-foot fall from a chinning bar on the Sierra Mesa School playground last Thursday sent Susan Bolpa, 6, daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Bolpa of 765 Alta Oaks Dr., Sierra Madre, to Sierra Madre Community Hospital where six stitches were needed to close cuts on the inside of her lower lip. Four upper front teeth also were loosened.

During the Christmas vacation, Susan, with her sister and playmates, were exercising on the chinning bar. Susan slipped and fell to the pavement. An ambulance took her to the hospital where her injuries were attended by Dr. Thomas R. Pickren.

The New Year, A Time For Joy

A noted pastor has said, "the matter of a joyful religion as part of a joyful life has been sadly underrated." Certainly the beginning of a year is a season of joy and many people, some who attend infrequently, will flock to church services making it a regular part of their daily lives.

Many do not realize that in church attendance and its activities there is a deep and abiding joy, manifest throughout all seasons of the year. The Church leads the way to a life of gratification by exemplifying the many passages in the Bible calling for joyful expression and living. All this is summed up so well by the author of Ecclesiastes when he wrote, "every man should eat and drink and enjoy the good of all his labor; it is the gift of God."

Yes, there are many joyous occasions in store for those who attend the church of their faith at this advent of the year, then religiously throughout the remainder of the year.

With the hope that it will, in some measure, foster and help sustain that which is good in family and community life, this feature is sponsored by the business firms and organizations whose names appear in this space.

Two San Gabriel Valley Water Districts Discuss Possible Joint Action

(Prepared for Sierra Madre News and Sierra Madre City Council by David S. Wood)

The Board of Directors of the San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District met with the Board of the Upper San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District in El Monte, Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 2, and discussed the problem of bringing a supply of additional water into the San Gabriel Valley to meet the rising demand and future requirements of the area. The object of the meeting was to explore the possibility of joint action of these two water agencies in order to reduce the cost of securing imported water.

Sierra Madre is a part of the San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District. The city is represented on the board of directors by David S. Wood of 590 Elm Ave.

THIS WATER DISTRICT includes the cities of Alhambra, Azusa, and Monterey Park, in addition to Sierra Madre. The district has a combined population of about 128,000 persons and an assessed valuation of about $200 million.

The Upper San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District is a separate and independent agency from the San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District, even though the names are similar and both districts are public agencies formed under the Water Code of the State of California.

The area included within the Upper San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District consists of nearly all of the Upper San Gabriel Valley not included in the other water district, and not including the cities of Pasadena and West Covina.

Total population of the Upper San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District is about 455,000 persons and its assessed valuation is about $750 million.

BOTH OF THESE two districts have employed firms of consulting engineers to study and report on their needs for imported water. This additional water will be required to prevent depletion of the local water sources (primarily underground water) and to meet the future demands of the rapidly expanding population.

The engineers have also been instructed to investigate the possible sources from which the additional water may be obtained and to compare the relative costs of water from the different sources.

The engineering firm of Leeds, Hill and Jewett of Los Angeles, is performing all of this work for the San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District. It is expected that their report will be ready in February, 1962.

The Upper San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District has received a report from the firm of Koebig and Koebig, which gives the amounts of additional water needed by that district. A second engineering firm, Thomas Stetson and Associates, has been employed to report to that district on the sources and the costs of additional water. The report on this later work is expected in April, 1962.

PRESENT INDICATIONS are that there are at least two possible ways to obtain additional water supplies for the San Gabriel Valley Area. There may be other ways that are not yet determined.

One possible method is to join the Metropolitan Water District. None of the area included within these two Municipal Water Districts is now part of MWD. At present, MWD supplies a large portion of Southern California with water from the Colorado River. MWD is also planning to supply water in the future from the Feather River Project which will be built by the State of California.

Three types of costs must be paid by the taxpayers and water users of an area that annexes to MWD. First is an annexation charge. This is approximately equal to the taxes the area would have paid in to MWD up to the present time if the area had been part of MWD since 1928.

In addition, the MWD annexation charge includes interest on these back taxes at the rate of 4 per cent a year. Total annexation charge amounts to approximately 5 1/2 per cent of the assessed valuation of the area to be annexed to MWD.

THE SECOND TYPE of MWD cost is the current MWD tax. This is 15 cents per 100 dollars of assessed valuation for the 1961-1962 fiscal year.

The third type of MWD cost is the direct charge for water actually delivered. The present charge for filtered and softened water for use in homes and industries is $27 an acre foot (one acre foot equals 326,000 gallons).

The second way to obtain additional water for the San Gabriel Valley area is for the two Municipal Water Districts, either jointly or separately, to contract directly with the State of California for water from the future Feather River Project.

This project will bring water from Northern to Southern California through a large, new aqueduct to be known as the Southern California Aqueduct.

Completion of this new aqueduct is expected to be in 1970 to 1972. Financing of the construction will be by means of the statewide bond issue for $1,750,000,000 which was approved by the voters in November, 1960. These bonds are to be repaid by the agencies which contract with the state for water from the aqueduct.

THE AMOUNT of bond repayment for each agency (such as the San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District) will be its proportionate share of the cost of constructing the aqueduct. Each contracting agency must also pay its proportionate share of the costs of operating the state aqueduct.

Finally, the contracting agency must provide and pay for its own facilities for bringing the water from the nearest convenient point along the state aqueduct to its individual area of water use.

The main subject of discussion at the meeting of the San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District with the Upper San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District last Tuesday, was the possibility for cooperative engineering studies and joint action on the facilities that would be required to transport water from the state aqueduct into the San Gabriel Valley.

The members of the Boards of Directors of both water districts expressed the view that the costs of such facilities per unit of water delivered would be lower if a single large facility were constructed to serve both districts rather than two separate smaller facilities.

ONE TENTATIVE PLAN, under consideration by the engineers working for both districts, is to take the water from the state aqueduct at a point on the north side of the San Gabriel Mountains and bring it over and then through the mountains into San Gabriel Canyon by pipes, pumps, and tunnels.

The water should drop down through power plants on the south side of the mountains to generate electric power for pumping on the north side. Excess power would also be available to be sold to help pay the costs of these facilities.

Specific agreements for joint action of the two water districts were not reached at the recent meeting. Several of those present felt that the reports of the engineering consultants should be completed first. The view was generally expressed that further meetings between the two districts would probably be desirable after the engineering reports are completed.

British Empire Daughters Will The new chapter, Daughters of the British Empire, in Arcadia, will meet Thursday, Jan. 11 at 2 p.m. in the Hospitality Room of Glendale Federal Savings, 100 S. First Ave., Arcadia. Mrs. F. M. Churchwell, regent, presiding. Mrs. Fulton G. Chapelle, State Organizing Secretary, has received word from the national president, Mrs. George F. Shilling, St. Petersburg, Fla., that the desired title "Marquis of Queensberry" has been approved.

Mrs. William Watson, State President Los Angeles, will present the chapter charter. Women of British birth, ancestry, sympathies, wives of Britishers, are cordially invited to become members. Tea is always served. For further information phone Mrs. Churchwell, Atlantic 6-1956.

Farber Saves Half-Million To Veterans

By Edwin Capes

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — One of the functions of government should be, at least, to save money for the taxpayers. Generally, just the reverse is true, government spends more than it anticipates in revenues, or more than is necessary for proper operation of its services.

However, there are some occasions when government administrators recognize the fundamental principle of costing the supporting public as little as possible to pay for services rendered, and these should come to the attention of the public when they occur, which is seldom.

Just a year ago, Joseph M. Farber, state director of veterans affairs, was confronted with the problem of awarding a contract for insurance on the homes sold through his departments to California veterans.

REALIZING the "plum" attractions for the insurance contracts, Farber decided to circumvent convention, and offer the contracts on a basis which would provide more protection for veterans' homes at a lesser cost than they had paid.

A group of 238 insurance companies submitted a proposal, as did North American Insurance, one of the largest writers of insurance on homes in California. North American is headed by Howard Ahmanson, a political figure in California, a one-time supporter of former Governor Goodwin J. Knight, and a leading figure in the Southern California business world.

The National American bid represented a potential saving of $5,150,000 over the five-year span of the contract, compared to the group of 238 insurance companies bid. The first ten months of the program operation, Farber said, showed veterans were saved more than a half-million dollars for that period.

THE AWARD of the contract to a single bidder, however, was not effected without the usual criticism emanating from some persons no longer profiting off the veterans. Prime criticism was to the effect that the home-buying veteran no longer would have the opportunity to select his own insurance agent and company to handle his business.

This criticism was cut short, however, when it was emphasized that in actuality, the veteran does not own the home he purchases through the state until the last payment is made, after which he can insure with whomever he wants.

THUS, THIS particular contract turns up no different than any other contract for services to the state, which are handled on open bid, and awarded for the most part to the lowest bidder.

Even legislator-insurance men got into the act, and caused hearings on Farber's action to be held before the Assembly interim insurance committee.

PLAZA SHOP TALK

By Sewall Clark

TRUDIE AND I have been trying to figure a schedule for definite hours at the Plaza Shop. In a tiny operation such as ours — scouting the top manufacturing houses for special buys — it isn't easy.

But thanks to some wonderful, experienced friends who occasionally unlock the doors for us, we now are able to say that the dress shop will be open from "Ten to Five" — closed Sundays and Mondays. If you can't make it then, just call us.

HERE'S HOW it works. The telephone at home sometimes rings so early in the morning we think it's still midnight. So maybe it's somebody Trudie has known in the garment industry ever since she became a charter member of California Fashion Designers.

So he says: "Trudie! I know where there are some 'extra cuts' from a beautiful line that would knock your tags off!"

MEANING PRICE tags, of course. And that means we have to be there in a hurry before somebody else grabs them in Hollywood to put away for an "August Sale" — or maybe for January, February or the Fourth of July.

As for us, we have our "sales" every day — let the calendar read as it may.

THESE TREASURES do not always come in all sizes; sometimes yes, sometimes no. That's why we are not a department store and never will be. When you come right down to it, we are not very competitive; often help our customers to find certain things at other places.

SPEAKING OF friends and cooperation, ask Marvin Thomas. He was helping with a bit of electric wiring the other day when we weren't there. A woman walked in, bought a dress and the two of them figured the sales tax together.

We even share the electric light bill with our neighbor, the Creative Arts Center. God bless everybody!

HAPPY NEW YEAR! And if you have any doubts about it —

"Ask Trudie!"

From the Plaza Shop. Jersey dresses. Very special. A variety of sizes and color. Just a few.

We made a lucky buy from a top manufacturer who included a few spring styles to intrigue us. We think it will do the same for you.

Reagan Aims Big Guns at Brown Rule

Assemblyman Bruce V. Reagan, Pasadena Republican, speaking to the Foothill Republican Club Wednesday (last) night, said that the principal issues in the coming California elections would be:

1—The appalling rise in the California crime rate under the Democratic Administration and failure of Governor Edmund G. Brown and Atty. Gen. Mosk to do anything constructive to protect the innocent victims.

2—The Tammany-type political patronage spoils system which has dominated the state government appointments to high office since the ascendancy of Brown, Cranston and associates.

3—The blatant dishonesty of an Administration which balances its budgets only by staggering high taxes, plus use of borrowed money to give the semblance of a balance.

ASSEMBLYMAN REAGAN predicted that Governor Brown would present a budget for 1962-1963 which would be close to $2½ billion, an all-time record.

He added that no new taxes would be proposed in 1962, only because it is an election year, but that the budget would be unbalanced by at least $150 million and that, at the present rate of irresponsible spending, further increases are inevitable in 1963.

AUTO RADIO STOLEN

Mrs. G. K. Simmons of 251 E. Montecito reported to police theft of a transistor radio from the family car parked at W. Sierra Madre Blvd. and Lima.

Reaching the hospital and only then realizing her loss, she phoned Sierra Madre police. Sgt. Heasley promptly recovered the purse.

Adequate chaperons for teenage dances at Youth Hut, Sierra Vista Park, was discussed at the Sierra Madre Parks and Recreation Commission meeting last Thursday night.

One of the commissioners expressed concern over what he termed "lack of supervision of younger girls from 12 to 13." He also felt that their parents should take more interest and offer their services as chaperons whenever possible.

The suggestion also was offered that lights on the outside area should be kept on until everyone has left the premises.

Assistance of the Coordinating Council was requested in meeting the above situation.

A CONCRETE PROGRAM

for Bailey Canyon Park care will be submitted at the January meeting. Chairman Margaret Anthony reported that some of the trees burned in the recent forest fire are showing green patches and developing new shoots. Proper water supply for the proposed new planting program, as well as erosion must be worked out, she said.

Youths Scatter Garbage in Park

There's no telling in what manner youthful depredations will follow these days of juvenile delinquency.

Having nothing better to do, a band of youngsters, riding in the night in automobiles, turned over a large number of garbage cans, scattering their contents about Sierra Vista Park.

close to the City Yards and the new restrooms.

TRUST TO LUCK

Many people have more faith in a good luck charm than in their own ability.

Behind The Scenes In Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK — American businessmen are divided over the Administration's latest plan to knock down the barriers to foreign trade.

The free trade proposals call for lowering tariff schedules and permitting freer exchange of products. But, say many business spokesmen, reduction of tariffs, while desirable, must be accompanied by special relief for small businesses, "stabilization" of U.S. labor costs (so they don't spiral upward too high), and new government policies that will encourage higher production and hold down inflationary trends.

Some business experts argue many American businesses will not be able to compete with low-paying foreign industries. They contend that clarification of the extent of the proposed new trade areas is needed before the U.S. commits itself to sweeping tariff reductions.

It's certain that the Administration will push hard for authority to cut tariffs, and many groups of U.S. businessmen will battle to maintain the status quo. The free trade issue will be a hot one in coming months.

'ONE NIGHT STANDS' —

Eastern railroads, facing still another year of high operating losses, have taken to barnstorming by train to gain public understanding of the need for changes in public policy affecting them.

Special trains, operated like political campaign trains, have been whistle-stopping through New England, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and Pennsylvania in recent months.

During the most recent whistle-stop tour through Massachusetts and New Hampshire, Patrick B. McGinnis, president of the Boston & Maine Railroad, said that rails continue to be the most efficient method of transportation, vital to national defense, and capable of immense expansion without taxpayer assistance.

Mr. McGinnis told platform audiences of the competition inequalities affecting rail prosperity, and called for removal of artificial obstacles to transport diversification and for provision of adequate "user charges" for use of publicly provided transportation facilities. He asked for repeal of the so-called agricultural commodities and bulk commodities exemptions, or, as an alternative, full extension of the same to railroads. He said that without such changes in public policy Eastern railroads would "go down the drain."

THINGS TO COME — Considerable savings in laundry bills for consumers have been forecast by a research company which has developed a multi-purpose commercial laundry machine that it says can wash, dry and iron flatwork in record time.

Hard-to-read house numbers can now be illuminated at night by a small fluorescent light case which also serves as a porch and stoop light; tiny bulbs inside the case project the lighted numbers.

Several manufacturers have produced easy-to-open can tops that will make can openers obsolete, they say. Latest can tops include a pull tab for frozen canned foods and a V-spout for cans with liquid contents.

CERAMIC, THREE TO ONE — U.S. home builders, surveyed for the domestic ceramic tile industry, reported an overwhelming preference for ceramic tile in the homes they built this year.

Ninety-four per cent of all builders included in the survey are using ceramic tile in one or more rooms of their new residential construction.

This amounts to 76.4 per cent of all new homes built the past year, from lowest to highest priced. Nearly one-quarter of all builders questioned said they are now using ceramic tile in areas where a competing material formerly was used.

Most-often-cited reason for widening use of ceramic tile was increased consumer demand. Other reasons cited were tile's durability, wide range of colors, versatility, and ease of cleaning.

The seasonal adjusted rate for non-farm residential construction is running at around 1,300,000 units a year, about equal to 1960's mark. Experts are optimistic about an increase in 1962's rate of housing starts.

STEEL, RACE — Russia is expected to establish a record in steel production this year while United States producers are taking an uneasy look at recent negotiations between the big three automobile makers and the automobile union, where the industry made the biggest concessions in recent years.

Western observers estimate steel production at 78 million tons behind the Iron Curtain, up six million tons from 1960. And Soviet plans call for an expansion to 100 million tons by 1965.

Preventive Or Cure For Colds Not Yet Discovered; Contact Principal Cause

By K. H. Sutherland, M.D.
Los Angeles County Health Officer

A cold is a nose or throat infection that generally lasts about a week and is caused by an undetermined number of viruses.

Americans spend millions of dollars on cold remedies every year, but, although some of these provide temporary relief from physical discomfort, none are yet available that will either prevent or cure a cold. Symptoms of infection will usually disappear in a matter of days whether medicine is taken or not.

Colds are caught in only one way and that is from other people. Virus-laden secretions pass from one individual's nose or mouth to another's and this occurs when the organisms are inhaled from the spray of the coughs or sneezes of a person with a cold.

INFECTION also may occur through close contact with a person who harbors the cold virus or by the use of articles, such as a drinking glass or towel, freshly soiled by his secretions. The virus also may get on the hands when contaminated objects are touched and may then be transferred to the mouth.

While it is true that getting chilled, sitting in drafts, or getting the feet wet will not cause a cold, these things lower the body's resistance to infection so that the cold viruses may find a susceptible host. A cold draft on the back of the neck, for instance, is often enough to permit invasion of the body by the cold virus.

The habit of going without enough sleep or the failure to eat an adequate diet also will lower the body's resistance to infection.

TO SOME SMALL extent, perhaps, cold can be avoided. Whenever feasible, one should keep away from people who have colds. Spray from uncovered coughs and sneezes may be projected as far as six feet, according to medical research workers. Most people, however, find it next to impossible to avoid individuals with colds. In the initial stages of a cold, the mucous membranes of the nose become sensitive and swollen and "sniffles" occur. Or the infection may start as a sore throat, in which case it seems to develop more slowly.

At this stage, a day or two in bed and the avoidance of drafts, a well-rounded diet and plenty of fluids may break up a cold, while bed rest also will help prevent its spread to other people.

A cold is usually most infectious during the first couple of days, although it may last a week or longer. A person may spread the cold virus from four to six hours before symptoms of infection are noticed.

AN ATTACK of the common cold confers no immunity whatsoever, and it is therefore possible to catch one cold after another. Indeed, many individuals do just that.

Colds are not dangerous in themselves. They are dangerous, however, because they may lead to more serious infections such as tonsillitis, sinusitis, influenza, bronchitis or pneumonia. If fever persists for more than 24 hours, or if colds seem to recur with distressing frequency, a physician should be consulted.

A pamphlet on the subject of colds will be mailed to anyone who sends a card of request to the Los Angeles County Health Department, Division of Public Health Education, 241 N. Figueroa St., Los Angeles 12.

BILLIE JOAN ORNCE of Sierra Madre is among the nurses at St. Luke Hospital who are learning the latest techniques of external cardiac massage from Dr. J. Douglas McNair of Arcadia, as part of the hospital's intensive in-service training program. Watching the demonstration on a specially constructed life-sized dummy are Nurses Mildred Park, Pasadena; Miss Ornce, June Davidson, Patricia Young and (kneeling over the "patient") May Standing, the latter three from Pasadena.

Don't call yourself a fool — your friends may suspect you have inside information.

Bring Back Memories . . .

Why Not Plant Yourself An Old-Fashioned Garden?

There's a world of memories to be found in the growing of plants, especially those plants which might be deemed old-fashioned. We see a lilac in bloom, for instance, and are reminded of some long-forgotten garden. Or we catch the unmistakable scent of mignonette and are taken back to our youth. Such impressions are worth striving for.

You might keep this in mind when it comes to your own garden. Why not plant a memory here and there—a favorite plant from your parents' garden or even your grandparents' garden. There are plenty still to be found wherever you find the California Association of Nurserymen sign.

There are memories to be found in the narcissus family, especially among the paper whites and jonquils. These have provided late winter bouquets for generations of gardeners in California. Their bloom is early, too, coming in mid-winter usually, so all the more reason to plant them.

VIOLETS WITHOUT question will provoke a remembrance of something or some place past. If you have forgotten the pleasures of picking this delightful flower, it's time you rediscovered them and meet at the same time some new hybrids that have joined the family.

Our present-day pansies and violas are not much different from those of yesterday. They may be larger and more prolific, but they still have their old-fashioned charm. Set out a flat of them and enjoy their color through winter.

There are countless good shrubs for the old-fashioned garden. Christmas rose or Scotch heather are sure to bring memories, and who can whiff the English lavender without being moved?

We could go on and on, but here's a better idea. Why not poke through the remotest corners of your neighborhood nursery and discover what's old for yourself?

Eight Free Talks On Rose Pruning

Eight free lectures on the pruning, planting and care of roses are scheduled the next two weekends in the Pageant of Roses Garden at Rose Hills Memorial Park, Whittier.

R. L. McNitt, park president, announces rose care techniques and problems will be discussed by expert rosarians at 1:30 and 2:45 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 6; Sunday, Jan. 7, and on Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 13 and 14.

A question-and-answer session will follow each of the lectures, and free literature on rose care will be available, McNitt said.
